

SHEEHAN IN A ROW.

He Tried to Expedite Voting in the Thirteenth District.

Wanted Voters to Have the Option of Refusing Amendment Ballots.

"Wicked" Gibbs, Beckman, Jerolamo and Larocque Oppose Him.

A lively row occurred in the Twenty-fifth Assembly District about 10 o'clock this morning. This is one of the largest election precincts in the district, the registration being 233, and Leader John C. Sheehan found there was some danger that all the Tammany votes would not get in.

He ordered his captain in this district, James McShane, to facilitate matters by insisting that voters need not take the Constitutional Amendment ballots unless they wanted to.

In this way it was hoped that the Tammany vote could be run through more expeditiously, for this district is one of the most important strongholds of the Wigwam.

The poll clerks and the Republican election inspectors objected to the proposition, and insisted that each voter should take all the ballots and return them properly folded.

Mr. McShane summoned Mr. Sheehan to his aid, and just at the same time Frederick S. Gibbs, the "Wicked One," and Col. Theodore Hamilton came along, and the candidates Henry R. Beckman and John Jerolamo happened in at the same time with Joseph Larocque, Chairman of the Committee of Seventy.

For ten minutes there was as fine a display of election oratory as one would care to listen to. Meanwhile all voting had been stopped.

The "Wicked" Gibbs got out his pocket manual and read the law to the inspectors and likewise the riot act. He said every voter should be compelled to take all the ballots into the booth and return them properly folded, or the vote would be thrown out.

Mr. Sheehan and the Tammany captain stood up for what they regarded as the rights of the voter and insisted that he could take as many or as few ballots into the booth as he liked, so long as he voted something, and that meant the Tammany ticket.

The Second Club workers were out in Commissioner, and it looked for a while as if the 213 voters of the election district would still remain unheard from would be shut out entirely.

The inspectors took a vote on the question and it resulted in a majority for Mr. Sheehan, after a consultation among the big guns present, it was decided to let the voting go on, as the crowd outside was clamoring bitterly against the delay.

The question at issue was no decided, however, and every man who voted took as many ballots as he chose. If he said he would not take them all, his vote would be thrown out, and he was compelled to swear to it.

Mr. Sheehan and the Tammany captain and he were out again inside of two minutes.

Receivers for an Association.

CAPT. SLIGOW A PICKPOCKET?

Strass Says the Republican Robbed Him at the Polls.

John J. Sligow, a Republican captain at the polls, 260 William street, in the Second Assembly District, was arrested at noon today charged with picking the pockets of an elector whom he was trying to convert.

Policeman Buckley, who stood at the polls, was attracted by a great racket near by, and saw a man with a blue badge fleeing down William street pursued by a commonplace citizen, who was shouting "Stop thief!"

The policeman gave chase and overtook the blue badge, which was worn by Capt. Sligow. The prisoner said that he was Florence Strauss, employed in the City Court. He declared that as he approached the polls to vote, the captain had greeted him most warmly, trying to win his vote for the Republican ticket.

During this conversation Strauss declares that the captain swiped a $10 bill from his pocket.

Capt. Sligow was considerably indignant, and Justice Ryan put off the hearing until the captain could become sober.

Police Detective Thompson, of the West Forty-seventh street squad, arranged a Republican Inspector of Election, of the Fifth Election District, of the Nineteenth Assembly District, in Yorkville Court this morning on a charge with being indicted by a grand jury of three gold watches and a chain of $100 value, of 418 West Fifty-third street. The accused is Stuart Craig, twenty-eight years old, living at the same address.

Officer yesterday appeared in court against a dispirited-looking woman who said she was Lizzie O'Hare, and who was committed for trial in $1,500 bail on the charge of having stolen the property.

O'Hare said he had been living with the woman for the past eighteen months. He is a foreman in the Street-Cleaning Department. While he was at work Saturday his trunk was broken open and the jewelry stolen. Thompson found it owned and learned that it was the woman who had pledged the jewelry.

After her arrest she confessed her guilt and said that Craig was her accomplice. Thompson arrested him at his home last night. Justice M. Mahon held him for further examination.

Badly Hurt by a Cable Car.

Thomas E. Vaughn, forty-five years old, of 122 Second avenue, was knocked down by a Third Avenue cable car at 6 o'clock this morning at Fifty-third street. He was severely hurt about the head and body, and was removed to Flower Hospital.

Scrofula in the Neck.

"I had a bunch on the side of my neck as large as a hen's egg. I was advised to have it cut out, but would not consent. A friend suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I am glad to say I did, and soon the bunch was entirely disappeared."

I can truly praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. I know it is an excellent medicine."

WOMEN AS WATCHERS

Mrs. E. B. Grannis Shows that They're a Big Success.

Appeared To, She Quietly Settles a Wordy Controversy.

Republicans Not Thrown Out of 68 Oliver Street This Year.

With a Republican watcher's certificate signed by Chairman Brookfield, a look of determination, a lunch basket and a copy of the election laws, Mrs. E. B. Grannis, the courageous woman reformer, arrived at the polling place at 6 Oliver street, at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

At 9 o'clock she announced that thirty-four had voted and that two had been rejected.

"I have been treated with the greatest consideration," she said to an Evening "Wicked" reporter, "I had been told that two Republican watchers were up to the reporter, and Mrs. Grannis directly referred to having and giving more about the subject.

An election inspector started in to tell him, but a prohibition watcher declared he had no right to say so, and in a moment there was an argument in which every eye in the room, except Mrs. Grannis and the prohibition watcher, was directed to the two women.

Just around the corner from where Mrs. Grannis was making herself famous two other women were acting as unofficial watchers at the polling-place of the Twenty-first Election District, 4 Oliver street.

The polling place is in a seaman's boarding-house, and the line on the street was kept constantly under the eye of the lady, who watched the proceedings from a second-story window.

An Italian woman stood in the doorway outside the polling-place, but neither she nor the landlady challenged voters. Both talked to their friends, however, and a Tammany leader said they were doing more effect for Grant than the entire Woman's Municipal League had done for the other side.

One arrest was reported at 11 o'clock. A man wearing one of Gibbs' Teal's badges was charged with stealing a man's watch.

Thrown out from this polling place last year, so I was naturally nervous, but I am getting along finely and the election in this district is going to be honoured," she exclaimed, bringing down a gloved hand on the ballot-box to emphasize the remark.

"But there is one thing I want to find out about," continued Mrs. Grannis, lowering her voice to a whisper so she could not be heard by others.

"I want to know if men on the under the influence of liquor they don't know what they are doing have the right to vote. There have been several such here this morning, and as none of the men made objection I said nothing."

"And also," went on the fair watcher, "I want to know if it's just the proper thing for election officers to be under the influence of liquor. I have noticed, but you can see and-and smell for yourselves that."

But just then other watchers crowded up to the reporter, and Mrs. Grannis directly referred to having and giving more about the subject.

Justice Barrett Decides Against the Theologians.

For y-nine of Them Stricken from the Registry Lists.

Tutors, However, May Acquire a Legal Residence.

About one hundred students of the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church, in Chelsea Square, marched in double file into the County Court-House at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Forty-nine of the students had been served last night with orders issued by Justice Barrett, of the Supreme Court, requiring them to show cause why their names should not be stricken from the registry lists of the Second Election District of the Thirteenth Assembly District.

The orders to show cause, which were served upon the affidavits of Peter J. Garvey, of 42 West Twentieth street, on the ground that the students named were not legal voters were made returnable at 10 o'clock, but at that hour Justice Barrett had not put in an appearance.

It is claimed by the students that last year thirty-seven from the seminary voted without question and that of that number twenty are among those included in the forty-nine ordered to show cause today.

Justice Barrett arrived at 10:50 o'clock and the argument began. Ex-Judge Arnoux and Lawyer Campbell argued in behalf of the students. It was contended that they occupied a different position from the students of most educational institutions, inasmuch as they paid their board aside from their tuition and many of them remained all the year round.

So far as the cases of Tutor Shepard and Assistant Prof. West were concerned, Justice Barrett said there was no question that they had a right to vote, and in their cases he refused the students' demand.

As to the others Justice Barrett said that under the constitution they had not gained legal residence at the Seminary. He refused, however, to grant the students' demand, because, he said, action should have been taken sooner.

He said the students could vote if they chose to swear in their ballots, and take their chances on punishment if it developed that they had no right.

In that case Justice Barrett expressed the opinion that the student had no right to vote, and ex-Judge Arnoux said that the other students would refrain from voting.

At Justice Barrett's suggestion, ex-Judge Arnoux is to prepare the cases of three of the students for appeal to the Court of Appeals for future government of such cases.

His Private Records Published.

Public Spirited Citizens Investigate the Famous Reformer's Methods.

Mr. Henry Whittemore, 487 Third street, Brooklyn, late genealogical editor National Encyclopedia of American Biography, says: "I must add my testimony to the efficacy of Munyon's Remedies. After being confined to the house for two days with a severe attack of sciatica, I procured a vial of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure and took off dose at night, and the next morning I was able to attend to business, and within three days could walk up and downstairs without difficulty. I shall take pleasure in recommending to my friends who are like afflicted."

Munyon's Vitalizer a Great Tonic.

Mrs. Williams, 309 Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn, says: "I have derived wonderful benefit from Munyon's Vitalizer. I began taking it when I was so weak and debilitated as to be scarcely able to walk. It acted as a marvelous tonic and built up my strength immediately."

Mr. Thomas Hale, 235 West Fifty-second street, New York City: "Munyon's Vitalizer is a great tonic. I tried it when recovering from a long spell of illness and found that it imparted new strength and vigor at once."

A. T. Jacobs, Bayonne, N. J.: "Professor Munyon's Vitalizer is a most remarkable invigorator. It has done wonders in building up my health."

William Houston, 239 Grand avenue, New Haven, Conn.: "I have taken only one bottle of Munyon's Vitalizer, but the results in toning up my whole system have been most remarkable."
